

GAYNOR AND GREENE HELD.

QUEBEC WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS IGNORED AT MONTREAL.

Judge Lafontaine, Extradition Commissioner, Held Them for Examination on Monday—No Bail, but They May Live at a Hotel Under Surveillance.

MONTREAL, Quebec, May 16.—Col. John F. Gaynor and Capt. B. D. Greene, who were arrested in Quebec yesterday and brought to Montreal, were taken this morning before Judge Lafontaine, Extradition Commissioner, who remanded them until Monday for examination. Bail was refused, but the Judge agreed to allow the prisoners to stay at the Windsor Hotel under the surveillance of the detectives.

In the morning High Constable Gale of Quebec served a writ of habeas corpus on Detective Carpenter, ordering him to bring the prisoners before the Quebec court. The detective consulted his counsel and was advised that if he returned the prisoners to Quebec he would render himself liable to arrest for contempt of court, as the Montreal Judge had remanded the prisoners until Monday. Detective Carpenter accordingly decided to disregard the writ.

Jules Teiser, the prisoner's Quebec counsel, arrived in Montreal to-day and has been associated with him L. O. Taitton and H. C. St. Pierre, two of Montreal's leading criminal lawyers, who will make an effort to have the proceedings here quashed. The Quebec authorities are very indignant over the way the arrest was made and say that it was a piece of sheer piracy.

Mr. Carpenter, who regards the prosecution, said-to-day, that in his opinion the proceedings had been quite regular and according to law. An Extradition Commissioner anywhere in Canada may issue a warrant and have it executed by a peer or officer without having it countersigned by a Magistrate or other dignitary, as it is stated.

The only reason for bringing Greene and Gaynor to Montreal is that the United States counsel practice there. He was satisfied that Mr. Carpenter had done his duty and had handed the prisoners over to the authorities in the proper course.

Martin Erwin, representing the United States, said-to-day that he was satisfied that all had gone along smoothly.

He was satisfied that both sides got fair play, and that was all he desired.

He determined to do all he could to have Gaynor and Greene extradited, as the United States Government had come to the conclusion that offenders of this character should not go unpunished.

Col. Gaynor and Capt. Greene, who are at the Windsor under police surveillance, do not appear to be much concerned over their arrest, and express themselves as confident that the proceedings will be squashed, and that they will be released to the highest courts, and it will probably be months before a decision is reached.

The prisoners have influential friends in Canada, and political pressure is being brought to bear to secure an order for their release.

Mrs. Gaynor arrived in the city this evening and joined her husband at the hotel.

BROOK'S MOTHER TESTIFIES.

She and Ruth Dunn the Chief Witnesses at the Inquest Yesterday.

The principal witness yesterday at the inquest in the case of Walter S. Brooks, who was shot in the Glen Island Hotel on Feb. 14, was his mother. On Thursday she had been hysterical and had interrupted the hearing. Yesterday she showed no emotion. She said she had met Florence Burns with her son first on October, 1901. Miss Burns, she said, came to her house on Nov. 21, 1901, and stayed about ten days.

She repeated the story she had told at the hearing before Justice Mayer about the Burns girl coming to the Brooks house while her son was ill in bed and crying out: "Walter Brooks, what are you going to do?" Mrs. Brooks said that on one occasion Florence Burns had said:

"If Walter does not marry me I will kill him."

Ruth M. Dunn, the next witness, testified that she met Brooks in Prospect Park, Brooklyn, the Wednesday before he died, and that Brooks escorted her home. She identified two letters which she had sent to Brooks, and one which Brooks had sent to her. The letters were not read to the jury.

When Detective Sergeant Colby, who went to the Burns girl's house in Flatbush and took her to the church street station, was called, Foster L. Backus, her counsel, questioned him about the length of her nose. The witness said the nose was short and "pudgy," and turned up at the point. One of the witnesses at the hearing before Justice Mayer testified that she had "a long, thin nose."

After hearing some other witnesses the Coroner adjourned the inquest until Monday morning.

MISSIONARY'S WIFE MURDERED

With Her Child by Cannibals in German New Guinea.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 10.—News was received in Brisbane before the steamer Miowara, which arrived here to-day, sailed from that port, of another missionary tragedy in New Guinea. Interisland steamers brought details of the massacre of Mrs. Wolff, wife of the Rev. Henwig Wolff, her infant and some blacks of the mission by natives of Paparavata, in German New Guinea.

The missionary was absent. A tribe living at a nearby village were about to erect a new house, and as custom decrees that such an event shall be celebrated by cannibal feast, they determined to attack the mission. Mrs. Wolff, her infant and Miss Cox, a visiting teacher, were seated on the veranda when the blacks appeared. Mrs. Wolff and her infant were hacked to death with axes, and Miss Cox fled into the house. Star, the native cook, and his assistant, left the compound at night by threatening them with firearms. Some natives who were in outhouses were killed with axes and their heads carried off.

The survivors made their way through the bush to the mission station at Tukubau. The pursuit of the guilty tribe is being carried out by the officials.
